Arriving at the office

- Every Monday morning the staff arrives at our modest office. Ready to begin work on another week of Daily Bible Trivia

The Staff Meeting

- Each week a small staff meeting is held to go over feedback and plan the next questions. Or consume coffee and donuts depending on who you ask.

Researching the Questions

- Researchers retreat to their offices to study and write the questions for the week. Note that we are a pet friendly workplace.

Check and double check

- After getting together researchers consult in small groups on the questions honing and refining them.

Focus Groups

- Questions are then tried out on focus groups. Sometimes the groups can be a bit hostile.

Final Editing

- After getting the questions ready a final edit is done to maintain continuity

Publishing

- Finally the questions are published. The workshop is cleaned up. Then we start all over.
